

AS Board,

I am issuing a statement of need to fill a vacant work study position in Environmental and Sustainability Programs. Last year ESP employed two work study positions, and this year ESP was offered to hire three work studies. We re-hired a previous work study and offered another award to a new student, but she chose to take a position in the Legal Information Center instead. We advertised the unfilled work study position all fall quarter hoping more qualified applicants would be interested, but no one came forward.

ESP has suffered as a result of this. Currently, ESP is struggling with a lack of internal communication that has resulted in our efforts largely going unnoticed in large populations on campus as well as the community at large. I have identified various needs that each office within the ESP has identified.

Environmental Center – Although the Environmental Center has been largely successful this year, its efforts have gone somewhat unnoticed on campus this year due to a lack of external communication. The other work study position was going to be a communications coordinator, someone to network with the campus and community to raise awareness. Some tasks we set aside for this position were sending out a weekly Environmental Center Bulletin (a task that last year encompassed an entire work study position), as well as a community contact person to work with organizations in the region. Both of these responsibilities have fallen on the Environmental Center Coordinator, which resulted in Hilary McGowan (EC Coordinator) going way over hours fall quarter. She has expressed a desire to hire this position to help delegate these responsibilities.

Outback - Several staff members have complained of a lack of communication between offices, despite regular meeting between me and coordinators. In particular, Roby Ventres-Pake (Outback OELP Coordinator) identified the need for a liaison between the Outback and the ESP due to both physical distance and program structure. He feels that this work study position would help synthesize the efforts between the farm and the VU building.

Alternative Transportation - The Alternative Transportation Fee is up for renewal this spring, and our office is responding by launching a transportation education campaign now through spring quarter. Our efforts are being unveiled with Transportation Week at the end of February, and our continuing efforts will put strain on our current staff. David Burgesser, Alternative Transportation Coordinator, has asked for additional staff time in reaching out to the campus community.

The Green Energy Fee Program will soon be in need of extra staff hours soon as we near completion on the grant application system. To adequately serve the program, the grant applications will need to be aggressively marketed to the student body, and Sarah Philips (GEF Education Coordinator) is worried that she won't be able to tackle this alone. She has expressed a need to additional staff help, something we feel can be well served by this work study position.

To summarize, we hope to hire a Communications Coordinator for Environmental and Sustainability Programs because we have received a qualified work study who has already expressed a willingness to address the issues outlined above. Due to our standing vacancy, and in light of previous work study allocations, we feel that hiring this work study will greatly benefit this department and strengthen the quality of programs and services we provide to the student body.

Thank you,

Jason Austin

Environmental and Sustainability Programs Associate Director

The Associated Students hiring procedure, at times, can be untimely in fulfilling our organization's staffing needs and too time consuming of current employees. It takes two weeks to open a position and if we don't get three applicants, I'll have to open it again for another week. Search committees realistically take 1-2 weeks to select a candidate, which means that before we even start training new hires, we can expect a 4-5 week selection process.

Right now I know of four students with unused work-study awards who want to work for the Associated Students. Luckily, there are four AS offices/departments that want to hire these specific people. These areas immediately seeking employees are:

- AS Environmental & Sustainability Programs
- AS Ethnic Student Center
- AS Publicity Center
- AS Veterans Outreach Center

Across campus, available work-study students are scarce, so if I were to follow the standard hiring procedure outlined in the AS Employment Policy, I likely wouldn't get three applicants for each position and have to re-open the position, so it'd probably take 4-5 weeks just to start doing employment paperwork. In the meantime, other departments on campus have shorter hiring processes, so these students, whose work-study awards are use-or-lose, may find jobs elsewhere and not work for the AS because we took too long.

I ask the Board to allow me to get students employed faster. In my understanding, previous versions of the Employment Policy allowed for such expediency. Students with work-study awards would approach the AS and if individual offices, in conjunction with the Personnel Office, deemed them an appropriate fit, they were hired. I do not think this would be an appropriate year-round policy, but for winter and spring quarters, unanticipated circumstances should warrant the AS adopting more functional hiring practices. As such, I ask the Board to exercise its authority stated in Section 9.02 of the Employment Policy to waive Section 6.01 for:

Proposed Motion:

Waive Section 6.01 of the AS Employment Policy for winter and spring quarters 2012 to allow _____, in conjunction with the potential supervisor, to hire work-study eligible students for already approved work-study positions.

Possible Options

- A. The Personnel Director
- B. The Personnel Director in agreement with VP for Business & Operations
- C. The Personnel Committee

During Spring Hiring, employment paperwork will be completed at the Mandatory Staff Development event: New Hire Night.
- xvii) All applications, questions and criteria, notes and any other material used in the hiring process must be returned to the AS Personnel Office. If the committee is unable to make a decision, the hiring process will begin again as outlined in 6.03 with a reconstituted committee.
