

"Committing VU Gallery Funds for FY '15 Exhibition"

Proposed Motion: The AS Board hereby grants consent for the VU Gallery to contractually and financially commit to an exhibition in October of 2014 (next fiscal year) featuring work by artist Jess T. Dugan, not to exceed $2,500.

Sponsor: VP for Activities, Jarred Tyson

Persons of Contact: Caitlin Scott (VU Gallery Director), Casey Hayden (Student Activities Advisor)

Guest Speaker: Caitlin and/or Casey

Date: March 3, 2014

Attached Documents

- Jess T. Dugan's (photography artist) curriculum vitae (CV) and sample images from body of work
- Three (3) quotes received for the cost of shipping the work to the gallery and back.
- Working Budget for Jess' visit to campus and exhibition during the Society for Photographic Education Northwest (SPENW) regional conference being hosted at Western in October 2014.

Background & Context

The VU Gallery was approached in January 2014 by Garth Amundsen, faculty member in the Art Dept. who is leading the SPENW conference planning, to invite the Gallery to be a part of the conference by hosting an exhibition featuring the one of the most revered artists attending, and speaking at, the conference. VU Gallery Director, Caitlin Scott, immediately conferred with advisor Casey Hayden, and both were very excited about the idea, as it would be a very high quality event for the VU Gallery and would help solidify programming far in advance. It was clear that the Art Department had already secured Jess as a speaker at the conference and that they were hoping we could take on the exhibition planning and logistics fully, as we would any other exhibition. We were very clear with Garth that while we supported the idea in spirit, there has not been a clear process in the past for ear-marking funds from the upcoming fiscal year for particular events.

Through several emails and a face-to-face meeting with Garth and some of the students planning the SPENW conference, it became clear that the exhibition could become a reality if funds for the shipping of the work from Chicago to Bellingham and back again could be secured and guaranteed. Garth was instrumental in helping to secure the attached shipping quotes. Jess is very excited to visit campus for the conference, as a speaker, and hopefully as an artist featured in a solo gallery exhibition that would run concurrently with the conference and allow for Jess to make an appearance at the VU Gallery reception.

Summary of Proposal

This proposal is not asking for any additional funds to be granted beyond what has been allotted to the VU Gallery in recent years. The goal of the proposal is simply to get authorization to firmly commit up to $2,500 to make the exhibition a reality. Neither the conference planning nor Jess' professional schedule will allow for only a "soft" commitment until July (when we'd be able to begin utilizing FY '15 dollars).

For additional context, the VU Gallery has had an annual line item amount of $2,000 Speaker/Performer Expenses, which has usually gone to cover costs for one national caliber artist per year. And the annual Catering budget has been $2,800. In recent years, the Gallery has been able to reduce Catering costs (reception food) to levels well below that budgeted amount. Even though it is unlikely that the full $2,500 being proposed for consent today will be used, the plan to account for that amount would be to move $500 from Catering over the Speaker/Performer Expenses.

The benefit to the program is great! We'd be able to start the year with a very well-respected national artist who would garner considerable press for the exhibition and VU Gallery. And having the first show of the year booked so early would be a great burden lifted off of next year's Gallery Director, allowing them a less stressful learning curve in the position. Collaborating with the Art Department has already been rewarding and would continue to be so.

The only downside to this proposal could be that the new Gallery Director might wish they had gotten to choose which artist these funds would be spent on. But they will still have 8 other exhibitions to plan during the year.

Fiscally

As no additional funds are being requested, and as it is unlikely that the AS Budget Committee would make such a drastic cut to the Gallery's budget that would call into question the availability of $2500 (of the $7150 annual allocation), there seems to be no fiscal impact, just a timing impact.
