IV. INFORMATION ITEMS - Guests*

A. AS WWU Local Agenda

Kohout said the Local Agenda was passed through the Legislative Affairs council last week. Thomas said this document is similar to the AS WWU Legislative Agenda where It isn't completely finished yet and the design and formatting will be done later. There is room for improvement on this document and she is open to all suggestions. The first document is for Student Housing. Now that Bellingham has mandatory Rental Registration rental housing will be shortened. The Aloha Motel is a prime location to add additional student housing. It has not been officially condemned yet but it is in the City's Legal Department going through the process of it. This would be a long term goal to try and get student housing in that location. The mayor voiced her opinion to put housing there which follows the Samish Way redevelopment plan. This document is advocating for more student housing specifically along Samish Way. Alcantar Soto asked why they are proposing it on Samish Way in particular though. Thomas said it must be mixed housing meaning commercial and housing. They are looking into this particular site because the Aloha Motel is being talked about being redeveloped. Alcantar Soto said her concern is the people who reside there now and if there will be resources provided for those folks because they may not have access to resources. With the Aloha Motel closing and redeveloping that area there will be people relocated and she wants to make sure those folks have resources. Thomas said that there are 253 residents who live on Samish Way. Part of the condemning process is helping to relocate those folks. They will be providing outreach services in the Sehome neighborhood and finding resources for them to find new homes. Alcantar Soto said that she wants to make sure there is an emphasis that they will be looked out for in this process. Thomas said she thinks it already in the plan but she will look out for it. Wolters said she would like to also address what Alcantar Soto was speaking about to make sure these folks are provided support in relocating themselves. She also thinks that the way this proposal is written may want to be worked on because it seems classist. In her opinion it sounds like it is saying students are better suited there than the folks that are there. She appreciated the proposal but it should be reframed. Thomas said she apologies because she didn't mean it to sound like that. She wasn't saying that students in particular will make it better, the more people living there making it safer. Thomas said in the Legal Information Center (LIC) wants to create ways for dorm residents to be informed, but it will be phase in and eventually be mandatory. Ideas such as a video students have to watch before registration, regularly occurring workshop that students could attend. There are workshops but It's not regularly occurring right now. Possibly a mandatory class for students to attend that community members could attend. Alcantar Soto said she thinks this is a great idea. They could make this another requirement to register but she worries about pushing another requirement on students. They could think about having it offered on different quarters. She also thinks freshman may be a little too early to start doing this class because they won't pay attention. They should look into the possibility of having this for those who opt out of on campus living or a way to exit the dorm living. Thomas said the opt out requirement would be good but most of the time they already sign the leases because they tell the university they aren't living on campus anymore. The University is also hesitant to require additional things. Kohout said the video doesn't have to be more than a couple minutes long and she doesn't think it would be too difficult to get students to watch it. Landlords that are going to take advantage of students and if they can show a couple minute video to help prevent that they should try to. Smiley said right now the university is already looking at the GURs and whether everything is still required. She couldn't picture this requirement being added currently. Wolters said in this it mentions they hope to include an off campus and an on campus education office but realizing space is a huge problem on this campus, did they have a specific place in mind for this on campus location? Thomas said not yet. This is more in hopes of getting one. There campus is a minority in university's not having an off campus housing office. They have a website but no one knows about it. They want to do some outreach and get it onto the universities website. A physical office may not happen but at least a better online website. Kohout said this isn't something that would happen overnight.

B. AS WWU Environmental Agenda

Kohout said the WWU Environmental Agenda was passed through the Legislative Affairs Council. Dugovich said this is the Environmental Agenda for the Environmental Lobby day that will be happening on February 16th 2015. This agenda is advocating for that Senate Bill 5087 Concerning Oil Transportation Safety by passed. They want this bill to pass because it would create easy accessible public information about the oil. It would also require oil companies to pay more to increase oil spill prevention programs. Overall he thinks it is a good cause and trusts those who put this together.

V. ACTION ITEMS - Guests*

A. Legislative Conference Funding Proposal

Kohout said she change the request not to exceed (NTE) $900 to give wiggle room for the flights. She spoke to people earlier about the registration and was promised the early registration deal. She would like to include another stipulation that this additional person that they must leave from Sea-Tac airport on march 26th. Any other way is really complicated. It's a lot of work to try and reimburse people from other airports. Alcantar Soto asked if it was only for this person and not the other eleven (11) correct. Kohout said yes, only for the additional person. Alexander clarifies that this stipulation is due to the conference being during spring break time. That's why people are flying from other airports. Kohout said it's great if people are leaving from other places and that's alright but just this one person is needed because of the late timing. Ghant asked if this conference funded last year through Operating and Enhancement Fund because that fund can't fund conference more than twice. Kohout said it wasn't funded out of the Operating and Enhancement Fund before.

Approve the Legislative Conference Funding Proposal

Second: Ghant Vote: 7-0-0 Action: Passed

B. Election Code Review and Candidate Packet

Guizar said she made some changes to these documents from the last time they saw this. She added in that it is the full responsibility of the candidate to be in contact with the Election Coordinator. She will be stamping the email or notification saying candidates have 36 hours to respond to her so they will know whether they need to contact her back or not. If they do not contact her back it will result in a file of a grievance. She also found come date changes to 2015 that need to happen on page 8. They also added on page 8 that the deadline was extended to take down materials the next day. Sometimes it can be an emotional time for candidates good and bad and its hard to take everything down right away. They are extending the deadline until Monday at 8am. They also made a small change in the candidate packet stating the secondary point of contact instead of calling it a campaign manager. Dugovich said he wanted to define campaign related event. He suggested it be a gathering of 10 or more individuals with the sole purpose of bolstering or furthering an individuals, initiatives or referendums campaign, candidacy or cause. Kohout said she would like to see it less than ten (10) people. Alcantar Soto said that they require clubs to have at least five (5) people, so they could use that as their number. Kohout asked what if they had a campaign team and they have a drink? Dugovich said that's why that put 10, but the real part of this is that it's for the sole purpose of promoting their campaign. Alcantar Soto said they can add a clause. Thomas suggested using constituents which would eliminate the campaign team problem.

XIII. OTHER BUSINESS

Kohout wanted to bring up a conversation she had with Eric Alexander earlier about the Student Senate. Because they haven't had a Student Senate in the past couple years there is a lack of Student Representation on this campus. She wanted to start the thought about getting more representation from students and talk to students about what they want to see. There are a lot of different types of structures they could look into but right now there are no checks and balances. She is questioning whether the model they have right now outdated.
