2018 Ballot Initiatives
Brought to ASBOD on October 19\textsuperscript{th}, 2018 by Natasha Hessami

Representatives from Proposition 5 and Initiative 1631 have asked me to endorse their measures. I am presenting each initiative to the board, so we can make an informed decision on an endorsement. There will also be a survey going out to all students on campus gauging their interest. I have asked Becca Kenna-Schenk, and she said, “I don’t see any issues with supporting those efforts, but you might want to run it by Western’s AAG to make sure it wouldn’t be a violation of any state laws.” I have reached out to the AAG without a response and will reach out again.

Bellingham – Proposition 5 (source: 2018 Bellingham Voters Guide)

The City of Bellingham Council adopted Resolution No. 2018-09 concerning property taxes for low-income housing and related services.

This measure would fund production and preservation of homes, rental assistance, support services, and down payment assistance for low-income households. Two-thirds of the funding would assist very low-income households, and the remaining third would assist low-income households. A family of two earning less than $30,450 annually is very low-income, and a family of two earning less than $48,750 is low-income. Funding priorities would be set forth in an Administrative and Financing Plan adopted by the City Council following recommendations by a citizen advisory committee to the Mayor and Council. The plan will be coordinated with existing City housing programs.

This proposition would replace and enhance existing levies to fund housing and housing services for people with low or very low incomes by authorizing a (1) property tax increase of $0.12/$1,000 in assessed valuation (to $2.25/$1,000) for collection in 2019-2028 (the 2019 amount would be used to compute the limitations for subsequent levies for collection in 2020-2028); and (2) regular property tax levy of up to $0.24/$1,000 under RCW 84.52.105; each for ten years, together generating $4,000,000 annually.

Argument for: Vote Yes to Renew the Bellingham Home Fund!! Everyone should have a home they can afford.

Thanks to Bellingham voters, our community has built and preserved hundreds of affordable homes for veterans, seniors, working families, and people with disabilities. Since 2012, every dollar of Bellingham Home Fund investment has been matched by eight dollars of private, state, and federal funds. We now have the opportunity to keep delivering on that record of success.
City residents agree that housing and homelessness are top priorities. Rents have gone way up, but wages have not. Long housing waiting lists include too many veterans, seniors, children, and people with disabilities. Hundreds of these households are homeless. Affordable homes to rent are in short supply.

Renewing the Bellingham Home Fund will continue to help. The Bellingham Home Fund is building and preserving almost 700 affordable homes for Bellingham families. With your vote, we can expand that to 1,200 homes that will benefit families for decades to come. Now, more than ever, we need to provide a stable future for Bellingham’s seniors, veterans, people with disabilities, and working families. No Argument against

Washington – Initiative 1631

Overview

The initiative would enact a carbon emissions fee on large emitters of carbon based on the carbon content of fossil fuels sold or used in the state and electricity generated in or imported for use in the state. The fee would be $15 per metric ton of carbon beginning on January 1, 2020, and would increase by $2 per metric ton each year until the state's greenhouse gas reduction goals of 2035 are met and the 2050 goals are on track to be met. Revenue from the fee would go into three funds: (1) a fund for air quality and energy programs and projects, (2) a fund for water quality and forest health projects, and (3) a fund for investments related to communities.[1][2] Under Washington law, this measure is a fee and not a tax because the revenue cannot be spent on government expenses or public program; rather, it is dedicated to specific accounts related to investing in climate and environmental projects.

Arguments

• Yes On 1631 featured the following argument on its website:[25]

  “Initiative 1631 will:

  • Protect our communities’ health and leave a better future for our kids;
  • Invest in clean energy, like wind and solar, as well as healthy forests, and clean air and water;
  • Create thousands of local jobs in our communities across the state while cutting pollution; and
  • Establish a fee on the largest corporate polluters, to make sure we are all doing our fair share to protect our state.”[14]

Opponents

• Western States Petroleum Association
• Association of Washington Business (AWB)

Arguments

Vote no on 1631 featured the following argument on its website:[29]

“The risks posed by climate change are real, but I-1631’s new, unfair energy tax is a deeply flawed approach to climate policy for our state. It would force Washington families, farmers, small businesses and consumers to pay billions in higher energy costs – while exempting many of our state’s largest polluters, and providing no specific plan or accountability for spending billions in taxpayer dollars.”[14]
